

The University of Arkansas Clinton School of Public Service
Assistant Professor

The University of Arkansas Clinton School of Public Service invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin July 1, 2017 in its new Executive Master of Public Service degree program. We seek candidates who have completed all requirements for the PhD or equivalent degree in relevant academic disciplines or cross-disciplinary program areas. Preference will be given to candidates who are equipped to develop and teach across our core EMPS courses in an online environment. [Please visit bit.ly/EMPScourses for a description of these courses.] Our preferred candidate will have experience developing and teaching courses online and a record or promise in conducting and communicating research that is relevant to public-service practitioners and scholars. Candidates must also have a commitment to advising and mentoring EMPS students.

The Clinton School of Public Service promotes a vision of world leaders who work with others to build healthy, engaged and vibrant communities. Located on the campus of the William J. Clinton Presidential Center, the school offers the first Master of Public Service (MPS) degree in the nation and the new Executive Master of Public Service (EMPS) degree designed for mid-career professionals with significant public service experience. The school's mission is to educate and prepare individuals for public service careers that incorporate a strategic vision, an authentic voice and a commitment to the common good.

To apply, please submit a curriculum vitae and a letter describing teaching experience including teaching in an online environment, public service research agenda and public service experience. The letter should also include your philosophy for teaching, especially in an online environment, and evidence of effective teaching (e.g., summary of teaching evaluations and sample syllabi). Additionally, submit three letters of recommendation.
